Welcome Back!

By Jeff Harris

Del Norte County Unified School District

Superintendent

I'd like to welcome our students and families back to a new school year! It is an honor, as always, to work alongside of our teachers, classified staff and administrators on behalf of our students and our community. For those of you who are new to our community, I want to extend a warm welcome on behalf of our staff and Board of Trustees. Del Norte County Unified School District and County Office of Education provide exciting opportunities for local students, and we are proud to continue to enhance and expand those programs this year.

The Board has adopted the mission of "Equipping Students for Success." We are committed, from preschool through our newly implemented adult education program, to ensuring that residents of every age in Del Norte County benefit from our efforts. We will continue to focus on early literacy for kindergarten through third grade students and to provide intervention for students beyond third grade who still struggle. We are committed to continuing to refining our programs to meet the needs of every student through inclusionary practices, multi-tiered systems of support, prevention and early intervention programs, universal free meal programs, research-based instructional strategies and other support services.

We also want to thank the community for their input and collaboration on improving District and County processes. As a result of your feedback and our conversations together, we are improving our school to home and District to home communications, working with schools to provide support and resources to improve climate and culture, providing our classified and certificated staff with high quality professional development, and continuing with our collaborative conversations and professional growth. Our Local Control and Accountability Plan (LCAP), too, benefitted from your honest input, and we look forward to working with all of our stakeholders to develop the next three year plan. The most important consideration of all, though, is that everything we do is focused on providing our community's youth with the education, experiences, and supports that they need to be successful.

For years, we've offered Spanish, Yurok and Tolowa language classes and added a Native Studies class at Del Norte High School. This year, we're proud to announce that the District and County Office are

While everything above may seem overwhelming, it is just the very start of the list of all that our District and County offer to our students, families, and community members. Each person in our county is an integral partner in each child's success, and we value your involvement.

Again, welcome back and thank you for partnering with us this year. Each member of our District and County Office is looking forward to working every day to inspire your child to achieve to his or her greatest potential. I wish you and your child all the best in the upcoming school year!

Back-to-School Health Guidelines

August marks back-to-school season, an ideal time for parents in California to help improve their children’s health. Follow this back-to-school “health checklist” to help children succeed inside and outside the classroom:

Good to get a Comprehensive Eye Examination

Since about 80 percent of what children learn is through their eyes, a child’s first comprehensive eye exam should occur before age 1, again at age 3 and before entering school. If no vision issues are detected, school-aged children should have an exam at least once every two years. A school’s vision screening is not a substitute for a comprehensive eye exam, as screenings can miss conditions such as poor eye alignment, focusing issues and farsightedness.

The inability to see clearly can affect a child’s physical, emotional and social development, which can affect academic and athletic performance. Children often don’t complain if their vision isn’t normal, so it’s important to look for possible signs such as squinting while reading or watching television, difficulty hitting or catching a ball, or headaches when watching 3D movies.

Be aware of digital eye strain, which is caused by prolonged use of computers or smartphones. Help your child practice healthy vision habits by keeping computer screens at least 30 inches from their eyes, resting their eyes every 20 minutes and blinking frequently to avoid dry eyes.

Get a Dental Cleaning

Maintaining proper oral health matters more than just keeping a sparkling smile – it’s also important for overall health, especially true for children. Untreated dental problems may diminish attention, decrease self-esteem and limit a child’s ability to learn at school.

Tooth decay is largely preventable, yet it ranks as the most common chronic disease among children. About 33 percent of young kids (ages 2 to 8) have cavities in their baby teeth, and 20 percent of kids in the same age group have cavities in their adult teeth. Parents should schedule dental exams every six months, especially at schools that require a back-to-school dental checkup.

Parents with teenagers should recognize the risks of opioid addiction, especially after wisdom teeth removal. If you or a loved one is prescribed an opioid following a dental or other medical procedure, ask your health care professional if there are alternatives, including over-the-counter pain relievers such as a combination of acetaminophen and ibuprofen.

Get Recommended Immunizations

Many schools in California require that children are properly immunized before they enter the classroom to help to avoid serious diseases and prevent other students from contracting them. Children’s vaccines are 90% to 99% effective and may protect kids from diseases such as mumps, tetanus and chicken pox. By reducing the risk of contracting diseases such as the flu, children may have fewer school absences.

Parents should check with their doctor to determine what immunizations are appropriate based on age. Most shots are given by the time children are 2 years old, but some are administered into the teen years. Minor side effects, such as a low-grade fever or swelling in the shot location, typically last a couple days. Apply a cool, wet washcloth on the sore area to help ease discomfort but check with your doctor about over-the-counter pain medications.

Back-to-school season is an exciting time for many children and their parents. These guidelines can optimize your child’s health and success throughout the school year.

Parent's Roadmaps to Common Core

The Council of the Great City Schools' parent roadmaps in English language arts/literacy provide guidance to parents about what their children will be learning and how they can support that learning in grades K-8. These parent roadmaps for each grade level also provide three-year snapshots showing how selected standards progress from year to year so that students will be college and career ready upon their graduation from high school.

The Parent Roadmaps to the Common Core State Standards may be reprinted or posted online for non-commercial purposes without the Council's prior consent. Please include attribution to the Council of the Great City Schools.
