

UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA	OKLAHOMA STATE UNIVERSITY	UNIVERSITY OF TULSA*	LIFE SENIOR SERVICES*
OU’s program — offered in Norman, Oklahoma City and via Zoom — boasts over 50 courses offered each semester. Courses range in topics such as art, history, world cultures, literature and political science.	Courses include tours of famous Tulsa landmarks like the Oklahoma Aquarium and Fab Lab, to topics like Cherokee history, film, jazz and geography.	Learners are invited to audit real college courses and participate in the course for the length of the semester.	LIFE offers a range of opportunities targeted at seniors and caregivers that include topics such as Medicare, legal issues, estate planning and caregiving topics, as well as personal interest opportunities.
“The main benefit is learning in its purest form. Since this is a non-credit program, our members are not looking for a degree or a way to advance their career. They simply want to learn about a topic that interests them.” — Chris Elliott, director of the division of lifelong learning	“Our students are all 50+ and cover a wide range of backgrounds and education levels. We are inclusive and welcoming of all who are interested in continuing their love of learning, social engagement and educational travel. We offer socialization with peers, and educational opportunities in Stillwater, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Bartlesville, as well as online and through the greater OLLI network. We also offer educational travel through our ed-ventures.” — Robbin Davis, OLLI director	“The students are enrolled in a real class with faculty and college students. This also allows alumni or anyone who wants to learn new programs that have developed since they graduated or just take something for enjoyment. No homework, papers or tests to take. They have access to the faculty, library and fitness center. One of our lifelong learners told me that it keeps his mind active and he enjoys conversation with our students.” — Stephanie Boulden, manager of special projects and technical needs	“Some of our most popular ‘fun’ topics have included genealogy, two iPhone photography classes and having a curator from Philbrook give us a preview of the Rembrandt to Monet exhibit. There are so many options out there, I encourage them to mix things up and include both learning for fun and learning to aid good decision-making in the more serious areas of life.” — Carol Carter, education and community events specialist for LIFE Senior Services
$5-$50 per course	$0-$50 per course	$500 per course	Free
Classes range from 2 hours, to 1 day/week for 4-6 weeks	1 day to 8 weeks	A full semester	Most classes are 60-90 minutes
pacs.ou.edu/olli	olli.okstate.edu	artsandsciences.utulsa.edu/life-long-learning/life-long-learning-courses	lifeseniorservices.org/community-education

*NOT ASSOCIATED WITH OSHER LIFELONG LEARNING INSTITUTE