

The best women's healthcare begins with a conversation.

As a Warren Clinic obstetrician and gynecologist (OB/GYN), Dr. Micah Relic does much more than deliver babies, perform specialized surgeries, and help patients with reproductive and urinary health issues. She listens. “When choosing a women’s health professional, trust and rapport are so important,” she said. “My exam room is a place where women have the security and freedom to say whatever is on their mind and share their health concerns.” Dr. Relic chose her specialty because she loves helping patients at every stage of their life. And she chose Saint Francis Health System for its philosophy of Christ-centered care. “I care for every patient as if she were my sister or my mother,” she said. “It is truly a privilege to have people trust me to take care of them.”
