Getting back to school

Antilles Head of School Liz Morrison helps middle school students to their classrooms after they had their temperatures checked on the first day of school Monday morning. Along with mandatory mask-wearing and social distancing, the St. Thomas private school is making the most of all indoor and outdoor spaces on campus to ensure social distancing. Drop-offs, pick-ups and breaks have been placed on a staggered schedule to eliminate large gatherings and physical education classes and recess times have been placed on a rotation.
