Lt. Gov. Hall-Long's Campaign for Governor Calls Out Matt Meyer for Taking Marching Orders from Billionaire Philip Shawe, Not Delawareans

Wilmington, DE – In a bold statement today, Lt. Governor Bethany Hall-Long's campaign for Governor highlighted the concerning influence of billionaire Philip Shawe on her opponent Matt Meyer, asserting that Meyer is prioritizing the interests of a wealthy benefactor's SuperPAC over those of the people of Delaware.

Philip Shawe, CEO of Transperfect, is a bitter billionaire looking to settle old scores against the state of Delaware and Governor John Carney at all costs. Shawe wants to completely dismantle the corporate franchise tax, what would that mean for Delawareans? That means Philip Shawe's pawn would totally slash taxes for corporations putting that cost on the backs of everyday Delawareans. That means rising property taxes and creating a sales tax in Delaware. That's what Philip Shawe wants and Meyer would be beholden to Shawe's marching orders.

Meyer's close ties to Shawe, along with his press conference directly coinciding with Shawe's SuperPAC cable advertising spending that attacks the Lt. Governor raises serious questions about whether or not the Meyer campaign is coordinating the timing of his press conference with Shawe's SuperPAC.

Lt. Governor Hall-Long emphasized her dedication to transparency, integrity, and the people of Delaware, ensuring that their voices are heard and respected.

"Our campaign is about the people of Delaware and their needs, not the interests of a single wealthy individual," Hall-Long continued. "I have always stood for accountability, transparency, and genuine public service. I care about the issues that keep families up at night. As your next Governor, I will continue to fight for the well-being and prosperity of every Delawarean, ensuring that our state is the best place to live, work and raise a family for all of us."

"I'm proud to be growing our campaign's support and to be endorsed by our Governor John Carney, members of the State House and State Senate, the AFL-CIO, DSEA, EMILY's List, and the State Democratic Party of Delaware."
