

A service-oriented approach

For both home and business owners, maintaining concrete surfaces like driveways, patios and pool decks "may not be the most glamorous job on your list, but it will definitely help you avoid costly repairs and replacements down the road," according to Jerry Loosmore of JL Concrete Sealing & Caulking.

After more than three decades of experience on concrete projects, Jerry started his own company nearly 10 years ago because he saw a better, more service-oriented way to approach concrete maintenance, he explained. That's why Jerry works on every job personally, using only time-tested, high-quality sealing materials and the best caulk product on the market.

JL Concrete Sealing & Caulking works to extend the life and greatly improve the appearance of concrete surfaces by caulking between joints and slabs, and then sealing them against the effects of time, traffic and Missouri's wide weather variations. The company's services also include grinding and filling any existing cracks prior to sealing. The process helps to restore the original color and luster of decorative, aggregate and other concrete surfaces while protecting them from wear. In most circumstances, sealant will last a minimum of three years, Jerry said.

Providing excellent customer service is the company's highest priority, Jerry said.

"I treat every job like it's my own home, my own driveway, and I probably want it to look better when we're finished than the homeowner does," Jerry said.

He encourages West County residents and business owners to contact him by phone or email at loosmore7@gmail.com for a free estimate.
