Ben Boland and Jim Menner

Honest Junk Removal, started by Jim Menner and Ben Boland in 2012, specializes in helping residential and commercial customers dispose of unwanted items. They remove items including, but not limited to, appliances, furniture, construction debris, fences, sheds, trampolines, exercise equipment, large TVs, paint and any interior or exterior debris or clutter.

Honest Junk Removal will clean out garages, basements, yards, office spaces, warehouses and rental properties. They can also help with estate liquidation and downsizing needs. No job is too large or too small.

They are now collecting books to support recycling, local libraries and literacy.

Jim and Ben, along with their trained, courteous and reliable moving professionals, will make sure the job is done right without damaging belongings or property. Honest Junk Removal makes every effort to remove items safely and efficiently. In fact, the staff at Honest Junk Removal takes the time to sort and separate items so that the items can be disposed of properly, donating or recycling whenever possible. Honest Junk Removal sets convenient and precise appointment times for each customer. They stay in constant contact with customers so there is no waiting for the crew to arrive at the appointed time. Plus, they offer upfront pricing with most estimates given over the phone. Honest Junk Removal is happy to offer personal, on-site quotes at no charge.

Jim, Ben and their staff live in the community they service, specializing in West County. "We set ourselves above the competition by always answering the phone personally, setting and meeting appointment times that are most convenient for our customers, providing high-quality service from our trustworthy staff and offering competitive pricing," said Jim. "Please contact us at our website or by phone." Honest Junk Removal looks forward to serving all of your disposal needs.
