Winter is a great season for homeowners to reevaluate window treatments to keep their home more climate-controlled during the colder months of the year. At Victor Shade Company, customers can choose from a wide variety of features, including those that provide variable light control, insulate rooms, lower energy bills and protect from damaging UV rays.

The long-time business has every kind of shade, shutter or blind to make your home comfortable, efficient and stylish every day of the year.

Victor Shade is a fourth-generation window treatment company. Scott Segall became the current president in 2005 when his uncle retired, and today, he continues the quality and traditions that began in 1908.

Victor Shade is a Hunter Douglas Gallery dealer, which means customers have access to all Hunter Douglas' beautiful quality products at competitive prices. In addition, they offer the latest industry trends. For example, all of Victor Shade's motorized products include an app to create scenes and automation from your smart device.

"In addition, if someone has an Apple HomePod, Google Home or Amazon Alexa, they can control their window treatments with them," Vice President Rachel Segall said.

The Victor Shade state-of-the-art showroom offers over 20 displays of shades, shutters, and blinds. Customers can browse sample books and interact with different models, including the motorized ones. Visit them at your convenience – no appointment is needed. Victor Shade also offers free in-home consultations, making the process convenient and easy for customers.
