

One-on-one complimentary design services

The Foyer is a furniture and home decor store in Chesterfield that puts a unique spin on home decorating with design services for free. "It's what sets us apart from other home décor stores," said owner Carrie Keipp.

They start, however, with beautiful decor – mirrors, pictures, florals accented with lights, vases, candleholders, trays, beads and large contemporary florals that will make your home something special.

As for furniture, the tables, cabinets and chairs The Foyer offers are "statement pieces" that you can build your style around and accent pieces that complement that style. Then, for some expert advice, make an appointment with designer Chantell Gibson or just walk in and meet one of the other associates. They have the expertise to make your home one of a kind.

Take pictures and measurements of the space you need help with, whether it's a giant wall, the area behind a couch, a fireplace mantel or a dining room tablescape. With customers' preferences in color and style, and an idea of how they want their own space to look and feel, designers can create a customized new look.

Customers can also see how the design is put together to recreate it in their own home. The design team works with items in the store, but if a customer has a special piece to incorporate into the design, they will be happy to work with it.

Beautiful decor, furniture and personalized one-on-one free design services is The Foyer's way to help you create your own "home sweet home."

"Our goal is that customers leave here with something that expresses who they are and sets their home apart from everyone else's," Keipp said.
