HIGH & DRY foundation repair specializes in cost-effective crack injection, wall stabilization, settling foundations, and interior/exterior drain systems. Co-owned by Tom and Cindy Ely, the full-service foundation repair company has fixed tens of thousands of foundations in the St. Louis metro area since 2006. The family-owned company can also structurally repair cracks and bowing walls using its carbon fiber products. "We use state-of-the-art technologies to provide a reliable and cost-effective solution for our customers' needs," Tom said. "Our goal is to provide the best quality and customer service in the industry. We're honest, with no intimidation. We are going to tell the customer what they need – and nothing more." The company has been the recipient of multiple awards, and is also A+ rated by the Better Business Bureau.
