Locating the best options in senior living

Finding the perfect senior living option doesn't have to be overwhelming.

Whether you are seeking independent living, assisted living or long-term care, Assisted Living Locators and senior care consultant Mark Rogers can help.

The free referral service begins with an interview to determine exactly what the family or individual needs and desires.

"We work through finances, health issues, preferred locations, services and amenities, and future care. Then, we select the best possible options and schedule tours that we also attend to ensure that the right questions are asked and answered," Mark said.

Mark knows that when life shifts suddenly and a family has only days to locate long-term nursing care, panic sets in fast. Assisted Living Locators can replace that stress with peace of mind through expert advice.

"We walk with our clients every step of the way," Mark said. "They don't need to do this alone!"

A typical response in this age of technology is to look for care by searching the internet. However, signing up with an online company will feed you options based on an algorithm. Working with Assisted Living Locators, which is a family-owned, local franchise, will help you find options that are well-vetted and based on you!

"We know what St. Louis and St. Charles have to offer because, like our clients, we live here," Mark said. "We vet these facilities by touring them, talking with residents and knowing the administrative staff."

The Assisted Living Locators team, with over 49 years of collective experience in St. Louis' senior healthcare market, has the knowledge to help families and individuals make sound decisions and draft care plans, even when time is short. More importantly, they care about helping their clients find exactly what they need.

"This is my passion," Mark said. "If I can help your family, give me a call or email me at markr@assistedlivinglocators.com."
