CLAYTON ALAMO

SOPHOMORE, GUSTINE HIGH

Clayton is involved in the ag program at Gustine High, where he also plays football and golf.

"It is a lot of what I grew up with," Clayton said of his interest in ag. "I enjoy it, and there are a lot of things I could do in the future with it. There are 100 different pathways. I know I want to work somewhere in ag. Right now, I really like working with plants."

Clayton said he worked hard as a freshman to earn a trip to the National FFA Convention this fall, which he attended as a member of the Gustine delegation.

Clayton, who said that outside of school he works with his uncle on a family ranch, said he enjoys being involved in various activities. "It is a lot more fun," he explained. "If you are not involved, it is not very fun at all."
