

Saving Nature One Yard at a Time

a film screening and panel discussion hosted by Shawnee Group of the Sierra Club
March 18, 5:45 pm to 7:30 pm | Carbondale's Civic Center, Room 108, 200 S Illinois Ave

Whether you have a backyard, a nearby field, a community garden, or simply pots on your front steps, you can contribute to a "Homegrown National Park," a movement of hope Doug Tallamy explores in his film, "What's the Rush?"

- Watch: "What's the Rush?" will show why it's important to create bee and insect friendly plantings that provide essential support for birds and other wildlife.

- Discuss: Our panel will follow up with their hands-on experience to field questions.

- Learn: Our co-hosts will offer resources, including hands-on learning and volunteer opportunities.

Free and open to the public!
