Jeremiah Fredrickson Launches Campaign for 92nd Assembly District

ELK MOUND, Wis. - Today, Jeremiah Fredrickson, owner of Jeremiah's Bullfrog Fish Farm, formally announced his candidacy for the 92nd Assembly District. Fredrickson released the following statement:

"I am excited to announce my candidacy for the 92nd Assembly District. As a lifelong Wisconsinite, I am proud to call this state and my community home. We look out for one another and we always lend a helping hand when needed. Rural Wisconsin is a beacon for how our legislature should act – lending support for those who need it and showing up when it matters most.

"I hear from so many of my neighbors that rural Wisconsin families are struggling – grocery prices keep going up, our local schools and hospitals are closing, veterans are left without critical services, good health care is out of reach, and small businesses can't get ahead. This district needs a representative who will be an unapologetic advocate for rural Wisconsin.

"I'm running for the Assembly because something needs to change in Madison. The legislature is more focused on partisan bickering than helping working families. We need to listen to each other and work together to get things done. I'm excited to bring this vision to voters across the district and hear their priorities over the coming months."
